Morningstar

3-ad Arc

Print ad series highlighting three investment data products that ran in various investment information publications.

- Morningstar Direct
One global database for institutional research.
- Morningstar[®] Licensed Data
One data feed source for 125,000 investments.
- Morningstar[®] Investment Profiles[™]
One-page reports for consistent communication.

Morningstar[®] Licensed Data is the single source for comprehensive, consistent data feeds across a range of investment types.

With Morningstar Licensed Data, you can license a data feed to use information from Morningstar's proprietary databases, which contain nearly 100 percent market coverage and millions of data points.

Our data is obtained from primary sources and held to a high standard of quality. Relationship and sales managers support every Licensed Data client.

Choose from consistently formatted licensed data feeds for seamless business integration. Conduct competitive analysis, develop new products, create effective communications materials, and deliver industry-standard statistics from a single source.

Accurate global investment information—Morningstar Licensed Data powers your business applications.

Licensed Data is one of many products from Morningstar, a leading provider of independent investment research.

- Morningstar Direct[™]
One global database for institutional research.
- Morningstar[®] Licensed Data
One data feed source for 125,000 investments.
- Morningstar[®] Investment Profiles[™]
One-page reports for consistent communication.

Morningstar Direct[™] is the shortest distance between statistics and solutions, providing institutions with the most complete and timely link to Morningstar's global investment database and analytics.

The Web-based interface gives you powerful research capabilities, such as returns-and-holdings-based style analysis, in-depth peer analysis, and custom data calculations. It also features robust reporting and presentation tools so you can effectively illustrate your recommendations. The format allows data to be updated throughout each day, which gives you a timely and competitive edge.

All data resources are fully integrated to support research across investment products. And we've just added hedge fund coverage.

Broader coverage and deeper analysis—Morningstar Direct is powerful research.
